

風水 FENG SHUI

FOR MODERN LIVING

ENTER THE DRAGON

New Year celebrations

LET THERE BE LOVE

More romance with Valentine feng shui

BLACK HAT LAMA

DRAGON FOOD

Winning New Year Party dishes

BURNING BRIGHT

London's Tiger, Tiger

napp

The World's Biggest Selling Feng Shui Magazine

No 22 February 2004
UK £2.95 US $5.95

Like A Candle in the Wind and Water

Why curse the darkness when you can light a candle? We all know about that. But how about the qualities and placement of a candle, author Tina Ketch's Feng Shui Candle Lighting (US$18.95) is designed to illuminate one's needs with a flick of a Bic and a bit o' bee's wax.

"Each bagua section refers to health about what ails or fails you," claims Ketch. Listed in Who's Who In America and Time magazine, USA Today voted her best in her field.

On a compatible candle-conscious note, FS-entrepreneur Judith Wendall's clients – including NYC's Felissimo, Soho's Kirna Zabete and Arizona's Miraval Spa – wax poetically about her bagua-designed-aligned candles. Each is designed with an octagonal shape, specific color, organic essential oil and vibrational crystals, and are available at www.newdimensions.com or +1-212-410-1832.

"People should follow their intuition to distinguish which area of their life needs balance," Wendall shares. Her tips are for Abundance – the Wood element of the purple candle with cedar oil and carnelian crystals; Recognition – fiery red, clary sage oil embedded with amethyst; Relationships – pink, geranium rose oil with moonstone crystals embodying the yin earth energies; Completion – metallic white candles with rose quartz crystals and pine oil; Benefactors – silver candle with lemongrass oil and Sodalite gems representing yang, masculine energies; Path in life – for career and social enhancement, black with smoky quartz crystals and peppermint oil; Self-knowledge blue, rosemary oil and lapis stone; New beginnings – 'new' wood green with aventurine crystals and bergamot oil; and Unity – bagua's center of orange and lavender with garnet for health.

